A Prayer Poem

Gather me, Lord, in union with you.
You call, I come.
You act, I respond.
You give, I return.
Your will, my journey.
You lift up, I lift up.
You lay down, I lay down.

Gather me all, every gift, burden, moment, laughter, tear, creation, performance, failure, cross.

At your table, I eat and drink to the endless exchange of giving and receiving from both gift and giver. Amen.

Written for the Worship for Workers Project of Fuller Seminary by Constance Cherry - theworshiparchitech.com **