An Offering Prayer for Those in Cybersecurity

God, we thank you for those who work in cybersecurity.
We bring before you
    the fruits of their labors.
We give thanks to you for the critical services that continue to function because of their work:
Hospitals that care for the sick Grocery stores that provide food for all Utilities that supply power for our homes and industries.
We are grateful to you, Lord God, for their work individually
        as part of corporations and in informal cybersecurity networks to undo the works of the agents of chaos.
We thank you, O Lord, who brought order out of chaos that you use these your servants to sustain the flourishing of the world through their gifts.
Amen.

Written for the Worship for Workers Project of Fuller Seminary by Uli Chi from Seattle, Washington