Wherever Your Feet Tread (Holy Ground)

Unaccompanied with hands, feet and voices

Cantor: Wherever your feet tread, Congregation: that'll be holy ground.
And wherever you rest your head,
that'll be holy ground.
For the people of God
are the temple of God
and the place where the Spirit dwells,
so wherever those people stand:
that'll be holy ground,
that'll be holy ground.

In the marketplace and city square:
holy ground.
In the class and the clinic God's Spirit is there:
holy ground.
On the factory floor and the office suite:
holy ground.
In every little place that you put your feet.

In the airport lounge and the building site:
holy ground.
when you're looking for work you're a shining light:
holy ground.
in the park and the gym and the sandwich bar:
holy ground.
It's holy ground wherever you are.
